Keynote Speaker

Dr. Sharon Hostler is the McLemore Birdsong Professor of Pediatrics, Senior Associate Dean at the School of Medicine and Vice Provost for Faculty Development for the University of Virginia. A native of Vermont, she received her BA from Middlebury College and MD from the University of Vermont and then completed her residency training in Pediatrics and Fellowship in Hematology-Oncology at the University of Virginia. Dr. Hostler joined the faculty in 1970.

Dr. Hostler's faculty career as a clinician educator at the University of Virginia has focused on: children with cancer; outreach to rural underserved children as (Medical Director of the Children and Youth Project); transition tasks of adolescents with chronic illness and developmental disabilities (Division Chief of Developmental Pediatrics); outcomes of adolescents with severe head injury and spinal cord injury (Medical Director of the Kluge Children's Rehabilitation Center; the status of women students, housestaff and faculty (Chair of the Committee on Women); the implementation of Family Centered Care in academic medical centers; and development of men and women faculty (Chair of the School of Medicine Promotion and Tenure Committee, Faculty Leadership Programs). She has served as Visiting Professor at schools throughout the United States, Canada, Israel, Costa Rica and Italy.

Dr. Hostler has been nationally recognized for her work in Developmental Pediatrics as the Association for the Care of Children in Hospitals' T. Barry Brazelton Lecturer, the Pele Chandler Lecturer and Visiting Professorships throughout the United States, Canada, Israel (Hadassah Hospital and Ben Gurion University), Costa Rica and Italy. The 1990 Status of Women Report at the University of Virginia resulted in major restructuring of promotion and tenure guidelines, faculty development and academic reviews, as well as providing a model assessment process for other medical schools. She has received the Women in Medicine Leadership Award from the Association of American Colleges in 1994 for her work with Promotion and Tenure and again in 2007 for the Faculty Leadership Program. She has been recognized by Middlebury College and the University of Vermont as an outstanding alumna and received the Walter Reed Award from the UVA School of Medicine Alumni Association, and other University honors. However, despite her Vermont heritage and her delight in high-quality ice cream, Ben and Jerry's did not interview her for CEO, but instead, sent her a "suitable for framing" rejection letter.

As Senior Associate Dean for Faculty Development, Dr. Hostler created a Faculty Leadership Program reflecting faculty needs from first entering academic medicine to midcareer leadership development to chair on-boarding, including an Academy of Distinguished Educators, Reflective Writing Program, an online literary journal, and the popular Transitions and Change Seminars. As Vice Provost this Leadership Program has expanded across UVA grounds. In 2000, the School of Medicine created a Sharon L Hostler Award which is presented annually to a faculty member in recognition of exemplary leadership. She continues as a mentor of women faculty throughout the University and at nationally through the AAMC and the Executive Leadership in Academic Medicine Program sponsored by Drexel University. In 2008, Dr. Hostler received the coveted Thomas Jefferson Award—the highest award given by the University of Virginia. Dr. Hostler teaches first year medical students how to do patient interviews and how to use the stethoscope, blows bubbles and builds sandcastles with her grandchildren, and writes creative nonfiction.

TESTIMONIALS FROM PAST PARTICIPANTS

“I would attend this conference next year because it addresses important issues women face throughout career and life.” • “Very interactive and informal” • “Excellent program with a wide variety of helpful information.”

- “I had a good time at the conference today . . . it was so nice to have a chance to talk with colleagues I rarely see” • “It’s always good to have reminders about how to improve your career.” • “My expectations were met at networking, informative speakers and relevant topics” • “It’s a great opportunity to learn and recharge.” • “Great networking.”

Program Description

This program promotes professional development through enhancement of leadership skills and strategies. We welcome academic physicians, dentists, scientists, postdocs, fellows, administrators and other health care professionals across the VCU Medical Center, VAMC, Inova Campus and beyond; medical, dental, other professional students, and graduate students; residents; practitioners and other community leaders. Both women and men in science, dentistry and medicine will gain skills that will enhance personal growth and advance careers. In addition, the conference provides an opportunity to network with other professionals and share advice and experiences. We sincerely hope you will join us for this unique opportunity.

Conference Goal

At the conclusion of this activity, participants should be better able to:

- Evaluate the pros and cons of the use of social media to interact with patients and colleagues.
- Assess the importance of the mentoring relationship in an academic medical center environment.
- Develop skills relating to professional development, personal growth and career advancement.
- Network with colleagues.

Please see the individual workshop educational objectives specific to each session.

WOMEN IN SCIENCE, DENTISTRY, AND MEDICINE

Established in 1992, the purpose of the Women in Science, Dentistry, and Medicine (WISDM) Faculty Organization is to further the professional goals of women physicians, dentists, scientists and others at the VCU Schools of Medicine and Dentistry, the VAMC, and across the VCU Health System. As a sponsor of forums for open communication, the organization facilitates networking, mentoring and collaboration among women faculty, housestaff, postdocs, medical, dental, and graduate students. All women faculty (clinical, basic sciences, administrative, full-time, part-time, any rank), students, housestaff, fellows, and post-docs in the VCU Schools of Medicine and Dentistry are considered members of WISDM and invited and encouraged to participate in any and all programs. Our alumni, retired faculty, men colleagues, and other health professionals are welcome to participate. Sustaining memberships are available to those who pay an annual contribution to support our various programs. For more information about the WISDM Faculty Organization, please contact Susan M. Lanni, MD, President, 804-828-8468, Deborah Stewart, Educational Program Coordinator, 804-828-6591, dstewart@vcu.edu, or visit us at our website <http://www.medschool.vcu.edu/wims/index.html>. We welcome your participation!

VCU SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

From our beginnings in 1838 to today, as part of a thriving urban comprehensive academic medical center, the VCU School of Medicine has maintained a reputation for excellence in teaching, research and health care. More than 700 students from around the world come to our School to pursue their M.D. and learn from our renowned faculty, many nationally and internationally recognized, who represent more than 200 specialty areas. The School also offers dozens of master's, doctoral and interdisciplinary programs in graduate education. The School accounts for almost half of VCU's sponsored research awards and over two-thirds of the university's National Institutes of Health funding. As part of the VCU Medical Center, the School provides innovative care to patients from across Virginia and neighboring states. Women faculty account for 35% of all full-time faculty, higher than the national averages, and chair 7 of 29 departments. Among medical students, 47% are women, and among graduate students 50% are women.

VCU SCHOOL OF DENTISTRY

The VCU School of Dentistry is a public, urban, research dental school, supported by Virginia to serve the people of the state and the nation. The school's mission is to provide educational programs that prepare graduates who are qualified to provide dental care services; generate new knowledge through research and other scholarly activity; and provide quality oral health care to the public and service to the community. The School is the only dental school in the Commonwealth and has a long history of educating practitioners capable of meeting the oral health care needs of the communities they serve. Since the early 80s, more women are entering dentistry in Virginia and across the U.S. In the fall of 2010, 40% of our 392 dental students were women. Of the 78 full-time dental school faculty, 40% are women. The School is pleased to join as a conference sponsor to promote professional development and career advancement of our faculty, students, and community practitioners.

VCU HEALTH SYSTEM

Again in 2010, VCU Health System was a tremendous force for good. We proudly accepted recognition as a Working Mother magazine's "100 Best Companies for Working Mothers" - for the sixth time. And for the fourth time, we were designated a National Association of Female Executives (NAFE) Top Company, and one of the top ten companies in the non-profit category. These national distinctions affirm that we are doing the right things for the right reasons. We take our responsibility to care for people seriously as a health care provider and as Richmond's largest private employer. And because females comprise 75% of our workforce, we take our responsibility one step further by doing what it takes to help them advance and prosper. We recognize that the ability of our employees to attain their professional goals relies heavily on their ability to focus, not worry about personal responsibilities. To this end, we offer more than 400 programs, policies and benefits, including child care, adult day care, sick/backup care, wellness programs, housing education and assistance and education reimbursement - for employees and their dependents. In 2010, more than $3.5 million was provided in education assistance and back-up care was utilized 1,263 times. Thank you WISDM, for sharing our commitment to recognizing, nurturing and advancing our female health care professionals.

MCGUIRE VETERANS AFFAIRS MEDICAL CENTER

McGuire's WISDM members are committed to advancing the professional aspirations of women in health care. McGuire is proud of the strong representation of women in key leadership positions in the institution including the chief of staff and multiple other department and board chair positions. The medical center, in Richmond, Virginia, and its three satellite clinics (in Fredericksburg, Charlottesville, and Emporia) serve a population of over 200,000 veterans in the region. We are a 427-bed medical center offering primary to tertiary health care in medicine, surgery, neurology, women's health care, psychiatry, rehabilitation medicine, dentistry, skilled nursing home care, and palliative care. McGuire houses one of VA's five Polytrauma Rehabilitation Centers caring for wounded military personnel from the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts and one of VA's six Parkinson's Disease Research, Education and Clinical Centers (PADRECC) with special expertise in deep brain stimulation techniques. McGuire also supports the largest of the 23 Spinal Cord Injury & Disorders Centers and an active heart transplantation program. More than one thousand trainees in multiple disciplines rotate through McGuire annually. The McGuire Research Institute, an award winning program for clinical and basic science research, is a proud sponsor of this year's WISDM spring conference.
