Course directors should provide explicit directions in their syllabi to students regarding the use of artificial intelligence (AI).